

Olive Jensen Nordby, hand-colored woodblock print, Lofoten Village

The artist wrote about her inspiration for making this image:
"I think about how the beautiful mountains got there, from the glaciers that dug out those areas; what marvelous things they created."

Madison artist Olive Nordby (1915-2014) was a long-time patron of the Norwegian American Genealogical Center & Naeseth Library. Over the years, Olive donated the proceeds of the sale of her art to benefit the work of NAGC & NL. A handsome, large format, full-color publication of her work, "Olive Jensen Nordby: A Retrospective of Her Art," edited by Ingrid M. and Jay L. Jensen, has been published by NAGC & NL in a limited edition.
